Sensors, resistors and joysticks

Metallux AG is an internationally active, medium-sized company based in Leutenbach near Stuttgart and an independent subsidiary in Rochester, USA.

With over 160 employees, we have been developing and manufacturing sensors, resistors and industrial joysticks for over 35 years. From the standard product to customer-specific solutions – that is our strength.

What sets us apart:

– Reliable and durable products for exigeant applications
– Individual and personal advice
– Extensive portfolio from the standard range to tailor-made, individual solutions
– Development and production in Germany
– Small-scale to large-scale production

A partner you can rely on.
